Hosiery

Underwear.

One glance anywhere along the counters will show any bright woman surprisingly great values.

These haphazard:

Women's black Hosiery, in Rembrandt ribbed openwork, at 25 cents. They would be cheap even at 35c.

Women's black cotton Hose, with white feet—Onyx dye—also Hermsdorf ribbed Hosiery, at 19 cents.

The usual 25c. quality.

Women's silk plated Vests, white, pink, blue and black, at 59 cents.

Have been 85c. and counted cheap at that.

Women's silk Vests, in V neck, handsomely silk trimmed, at 38c. each.

We will not say how much more they are worth—you'll see!

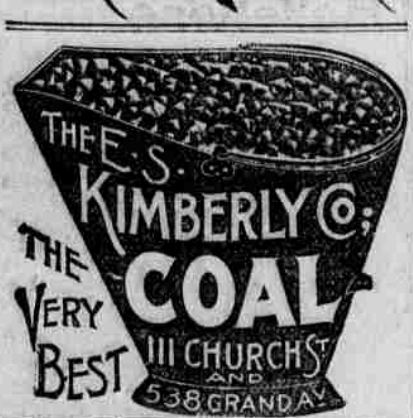

Women's fine cotton ribbed Vests, with silk crochet straps over shoulders, at 25c. each.

You've seen poorer at double that.

Women's Empress Drawers, at 83c. each, reduced from 50c., and 63c. from 98c.

An excellent Drawer.

DR. GEORGE F. PENTECOST.

Noted London Preacher is Now Visiting Relatives in Waterbury.

Rev. George F. Pentecost, D. D., pastor of the Marylebone Presbyterian church, London, England, whose sermons in this city at the time of the Moody and Sanky revival were heard by thousands of our people, is spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. S. A. Kingman, at her home in Waterbury.

Dr. Pentecost has preached for the past two Sundays before the Tremont Temple congregation in Boston for the pastor, Rev. Dr. George C. Lorimer, who is spending his vacation in London, where he will preach for eight Sundays at Dr. Pentecost's church.

Dr. Pentecost meanwhile is to occupy the pulpit of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church during the month of August for Rev. Dr. John Hall, who is spending his vacation at his old home in Ireland. Dr. Pentecost has held Dr. John Hall's pulpit in this way for three or four years, as he prefers to spend his vacation in this country, and Dr. Hall usually goes abroad.

The Marylebone church, of which Mr. Pentecost is the pastor, is located near the junction of May Fair and Park Lane, not far from Rotten Row, and on the estate of the Duke of Portland. It is in the famous west end quarter of London, just off from Portici Square, which is the residence of the Duke of Fife, the son-in-law of the Prince of Wales.

Dr. Pentecost said in an interview with a Waterbury Republican reporter, yesterday, that the church was most cosmopolitan, being attended alike by dignitaries and chimney sweeps.

Dr. Pentecost is a liberal in his political sympathies and believes the present success of the Tories will not be lasting. It will tend to put off the disestablishment of the church in Scotland and Wales. Speaking of the liberals or radicals, he said:

"They will continue to gather force, however, and there is practically no doubt that the liberals will be finally restored to power, and there is in my own mind no doubt that the church of England itself will be disestablished within the space of twenty-five years, and that all church life will be put on an equal basis, the same as it is in this country."

"In opposition to the liberals are the Tories. This party contains all the ground landlords, brewers—in fact, all representatives of the drinking interests—and monopolists of all kinds. The liberals represent the growing radical and democratic interests of the country."

Dr. Pentecost then said something about the American community in London. He said: "It is estimated that there are 50,000 resident Americans in London. They are in every branch of business and professional life. And the Pall Mall Gazette, one of the leading London journals, is now owned by an American, William Waldorf Astor. And I might name over many big enterprises, such as the Anglo-American Oil company, which are controlled by Americans. One can walk down through Oxford street, Holborn, Regent street and Piccadilly, which are the most bustling thoroughfares of the world's metropolis, and see every year an increasing number of establishments and shops which are run by Americans."

"The most popular confectioner and caterer in all London is Fuller, an American. He occupies the same place that men like Huyler and Millard do in New York and he is introducing into England many of the popular American confections. And then take it among actresses and singers. Ellen Terry's principal understudy is an American girl. Ada Rehan pleases the English immensely. Mme. Antoinette Sterling, one of the greatest contraltos in the world, and Mme. Belle Cole, another great contralto, are both Americans."

When asked something about the Cornell crew Dr. Pentecost said that the crew was very popular at Henley up to the time of the race. He said that he was present and saw the fiasco. He thought that although the criticisms of the English press were at first very severe, the American boys have been fully exonerated from the charge of ungentlemanly conduct.

"But," said he, "the prejudice against anything American is most intense both among the common people and in the press. I think it is largely based on ignorance. It is hard for an Englishman to believe anything good can come out of this American Nazareth."

"The intense prejudice is due in large part also to the class of Americans who come over to England. They are very often the newly rich, and are loud-mouthed, bragging and boasting as a class. While on the other hand the average Englishman is a modest, retiring man. But upon the whole I think the two countries are coming to know each other better and I think that the prejudice will gradually disappear."

THE STONE FAMILY.

Reunion at Woodmont of Descendants of the Rev. Samuel Stone.

Hartford, July 31.—The ninth annual reunion of the descendants of the Rev. Samuel Stone, the founder of Hartford, and the faithful companion of Rev. Thomas Hooker, both of whom came to this country from Hereford, England, in 1633, will be held at Woodmont, Milford, on Wednesday, September 4. About 100 members of the family are expected to be present, and it will be a meeting of special interest, as it was at this place that many of the descendants of the Rev. Samuel Stone made their home. The founder of the family first went to Cambridge, Mass., and a memorandum made by the late David M. Stone, editor of the Journal of Commerce, reads: "The Rev. Samuel Stone and the Rev. Thomas Hooker are said to have been two weeks on the way to Hartford from Cambridge, living meantime on the milk of the cows they met with them—a journey which may be made now in as many hours." The officers of the association are: President, Samuel M. Hitchcock of Hartford; vice presidents, Dr. Jay S. Stone, Sanford Co. Stone, J. E. Stone, Elliott Stone, Merlin J. Stone, John L. Stone, and Mrs. Mary Merwin Tibbals; recording secretary, Lieutenant Henry E. Rhoades of United States navy; corresponding secretary, Charles S. Smith of Terryville; treasurer, G. Burke Smith.

AN ESTIMABLE LADY.

The Late Mrs. Noyes Wheeler of Beacon Falls.

Bethany, July 31.—Mrs. Chas. S. Wheeler, wife of Noyes Wheeler of Beacon Falls, July 22, at the age of seventy-seven years. She had been a sufferer during her illness, but had been patient through it all. She was a member of Christ church, Bethany, and was filled with zeal in its welfare. She was devoted to her family, and will be greatly missed in that circle, and also by a large number of relatives and friends who sympathize with the family in their affliction.

Mrs. Wheeler was born in Bethany in 1818. The town was a part of Woodbridge then, and Bethany became a town in 1832. She had lived with her husband (Noyes Wheeler) in Beacon Falls for forty-seven years. The funeral was held on Wednesday, the 24th, and she was buried in Pine's Bridge cemetery. The deceased was a daughter of Seymour Tuttle, the well known axe maker in his time, and was an aunt of Mr. S. G. Davidson, of Bethany, and a sister of Miss Tuttle of Bethany. Miss Tuttle is the only one left of a family of seven, six daughters and one son. Mrs. Wheeler had two daughters, one of whom died at about eight years of age, the other was left to care for her during the years of her infirmity. The deceased leaves a husband and daughter to mourn with other her loss.
